

Hooking up an iBook to Video Projector

Take the cord from the back of the video projector and attach the white adapter to the left side of the iBook. If there is no white adapter check Renee's office on the computer cart in the tub for an adapter.

After the adapter is plugged in, press power on the video projector and then turn on the computer. Make sure the lens cap is off and the video projector is set on "computer". If it is not on "computer" click the "Source" button on top of the video projector.
